

The Epic Meal Team

The month of February saw the formation of a team so feared that the mere mention of their name would strike fear in the hearts of those around and cast a dark cloud over what would normally be happy, joyful people. Yes, the epic meal team was born. This was like no ordinary team. No. This team aimed to go where no group had gone before. This team desired to at t e m p t t h e impossible. Yes. This team was very stupid. The first quest for the epic meal team came in the form of chicken wings...FROM THE DEVIL HIMSELF! Tucked away in the most obscure corner of the most obscure corner in Singapore, the team of Karthik, Greg, Calvin, Alexi, Eric and Leonard were brave (and foolish) enough, to go through the stringent selection process of the 3 S's (Stupidity, Silliness and Senselessness) to emerge as the official challengers of the level 30 chicken wings.

(The rest of us were just there cause we didn't know how to get out so we ordered the level 3.0 chicken wings.)

After a lot of swearing, crying, and milk, the epic meal team tasted the sweet taste of success and we have to give them the credit due. This was also after their taste buds had recovered from the intense trauma. It was a day of firsts for many of us there to witness the momentous occasion, but most importantly, it was the first and unfortunately not the last epic meal time.

CNY Celebrations

The month of February was kicked off with a change in the Lunar Year and to welcome in the year of the Rabbit, the sailing club had a Chinese New Year Celebration complete with 'lo hei', automatic mahjong, some brutal punishment and a whole lot of innocent card playing. More than that though it was a time for reunion for members new and not so new and it gave us a chance to gather outside of the library and Raffles Marina which is always a healthy option. There were some masterclass chinese proverbs going around at the table and if the messy aftermath is any indication of the sailing clubs future prospects this year, i'd reckon we have a lot to look forward to. Thanks to all who came and lost your money to the house. Don't worry, if i find it i will give it back to you.

Epic Meal Time II

If you thought the sailing club was wise enough to learn from the mistakes made in the past, you are absolutely right! The same can't be said for the epic meal team however who decided the best way to get the club into shape and to start dieting was to eat more! So with the challenge of 1000 Xiao Long Baos set for us, the warriors marched into the Crystal Jade arena to accept it. Game plans and strategies were drawn up, tactics were discussed and xiao long baos were allocated. All looked to be going well until the steamboat arrived. Obviously lacking in any discipline, the epic meal team thought that a bit of beef, some prawns and other incarnations of the "bao" would be beneficial to us in our quest. We were wrong. Despite the failure, each member present that night learnt a valuable lesson. Don't promise free flow of something if your production line cannot keep up. That was all we learnt. What we should have learnt was the importance of focus, the true value of determination, and not to be so stupid. Judging by the number of epic meal time suggestions currently being decided on, we should be hating all forms of food very soon. Oh in case you were wondering, we ate about 540 in the end. I hate xiao long baos.

SSU Sports Awards Night 2011

Before you think all we did was eat in February, i think it is only fair that i highlight some of the achievements the club picked up. The annual Sports Awards Night was held in the University Lounge on the 10th of February and it was truly an enjoyable night where sportsmen from all the CCAs could gather in one place to celebrate sport and recognize the individuals and teams who had done well in the past year. The sailing club picked up a number of awards including:

- i) SSU Outreach Achievement Award (Western Circuit)
- ii) SSU Best biceps (Peiquan)
- iii) SSU Sportsman of the year (Chris)

Although we missed out on a few other awards the club would like to thank all who came down to support our members and for the sacrifices made, the commitment shown and the passion demonstrated to the sailing club throughout the years. Make no mistake we will put in even more effort to ensure we continue to uphold the high level of excellence that the club and the school is used to.

Upcoming Events

On a side note, please take note of the following events that will be happening very soon!

i) USL Awards Ceremony

Friday, 4th March 2011

7:30 PM @ T-Junction

Come cheer and support our sailors as they receive individual prizes for their contributions to both the school and the club. Also WE WON TEAM OF THE YEAR so thats another reason why you should be there!

ii) Opening of the Ladies Corner

Friday, 5th March 2011

12:00 PM @ SMU Gym

The ladies corner in the SMU gym will be officially opened so please come down and show your support. Also, if you are a girl, there are attractive prizes that you could win so don't miss out!